McComb Make-over

When COL West returned from the December 7-8 meeting of the French Camp and Chamberlain-Hunt trustees, he brought home an early Christmas present: the trustees authorized a huge project that will benefit us enormously. Beginning during the Christmas break, renovation to the exterior of McComb Hall will begin. No, not the full-blown restoration of the pre-fire roof-line, with clock tower and turret. That will have to wait. The grand old building will, however, get a new roof and french drains. More obviously, the brick will be cleaned and every joint re-pointed! This project will take most, if not all, of second semester to complete. It will pave the way for future interior renovation and, hopefully one day, restoration to its original appearance.
